ECONOMIC COMMENTARY

Market review

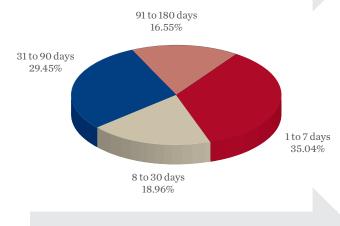

A resurgence of COVID-19 cases, ongoing fiscal stimulus negotiations, and the U.S. presidential election dominated headlines during the month of October. While this uncertainty caused some volatility out the curve, Treasury bill yields were relatively unchanged, with the three-month T-bill yield ending the month at 0.09% and the one-year T-bill yield ending at 0.12%.

The U.S. economy posted a sharp recovery in the third quarter with GDP surging 33.1% quarter over quarter (q/q) at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, driven by a resilient consumer and an unprecedented monetary-fiscal policy response. While it was the best quarterly GDP print on record, it followed the worst quarterly GDP print on record of -31.4% in the second quarter. Despite a solid bounce back, economic output is still about 3.5% below its 4Q2019 level. Looking ahead, the economic recovery should slow considerably, averaging 2-3% growth per quarter annualized in 4Q2020 and into 2021, and the stability of the recovery relies on additional fiscal stimulus from the government. Last week, durable goods orders had a solid increase of 1.9% month over month (m/m), personal income grew 0.9% in September and consumer spending rose 1.4%, driven by goods consumption.

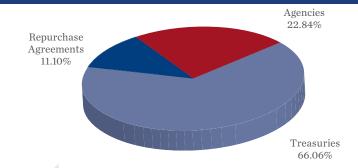

Nonfarm payrolls increased by 661,000 in September, and the unemployment rate fell to 7.9%. Leisure and hospitality accounted for nearly half of the job gains, but government jobs declined by 216,000, including 34,000 temporary Census 2020 workers. (continued page 4)

Wages grew 0.1% m/m for all workers and were flat for production and non-supervisory workers. The economy has now regained 52% of the 22 million jobs lost between February and April. Although this jobs report demonstrated solid progress in a gradual recovery, the pace of progress has slowed considerably. There continue to be wide swaths of the U.S. economy, which simply cannot go back to normal in a worsening pandemic, including travel, leisure, entertainment, restaurants and bricks-and-mortar retailing. Inflation is gradually increasing but remains below the Fed's 2% target with September headline and Core PCE at 1.4% and 1.5% year over year respectively. While low energy prices and slack in the economy continue to put downward pressure on inflation, price pressures appear stronger than what would have been expected in the wake of a downturn as severe as the 2020 recession.

The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) maintained the federal funds target rate at a range of 0.00%-0.25%. The Committee will also maintain its current pace of asset purchases of $80 billion per month. It also further clarified conditions for adjusting policy rates relating to its new average inflation targeting framework: 1) inflation would need to run moderately above 2% for a period of time to compensate for periods of low inflation, and 2) longer-term inflation expectations would need to remain anchored at 2%. This means allowing inflation to run above 2% to make up for past short-falls, leaving rates close to zero for even longer than expected.

Outlook

All eyes are on the November U.S. election given the significant market and policy implications, as U.S. fiscal stimulus, taxation, regulation, and foreign affairs policies could shift. A "blue wave" or a Democratic sweep would bring higher corporate and individual taxes, but with fiscal stimulus frontloaded, it can positively boost the near-term growth outlook. A "red wave" or a Republican sweep suggests less fiscal stimulus in 2021 and less fiscal drag in 2022 with no new taxes and more market volatility due to less policy predictability. Finally, a divided government suggests less fiscal stimulus in 2021, stable inflation, elevated deficit and slower growth.

At this time, the election is too close to call as the results in a number of battleground states will take some time to be decided. However, the probability of a Democratic "blue wave" now appears to have declined as the probability for a divided government has increased.
